

Derik Pereira has been an Architect at the Dell Customer Solution Center in Washington DC since 2011. He provides consulting services to Dell customers and partners across multiple industries on the architecture, design, engineering and development of IT infrastructure (servers, storage and networks), service management, middleware and applications. Prior to Dell, he worked for IBM as an IT Strategy and Architecture Consultant in the Cloud Computing domain in a career that spanned 25 years with IBM. Derik has a BS in Computer Sciences and a MBA in Economics and Finance.

His technology (architecture, engineering and development) expertise includes Cloud Computing, Web Services, Virtualization, VMWARE, Hyper-V, KVM, Open Source Software, openstack, puppet, hadoop, Python, Ruby, Java, Linux, Unix, Windows, Intel X86, SAN, NAS, TCP/IP, SDN (Software Defined Networking), NSX, bigswitch, ITIL, Enterprise Architecture and Governance.

derik_pereira@dell.com

<http://dp55.us>

770-540-2101